Aggregated Data

We also collect, use and share “Aggregated Data” such as statistical or demographic data. Aggregated Data may be derived from your information but does not constitute “personal data” in law as it does not directly or indirectly reveal your identity. For example, we may aggregate (i.e. combine with information relating to others) your Usage Data to calculate the percentage of users accessing a specific feature of our website. However, if we combine or connect Aggregated Data with your information so that it can directly or indirectly identify you, we treat the combined data as personal data which will be handled in accordance with this Policy.

Special Categories of Personal Data

“Special Categories” of personal data includes details about your race or ethnicity, religious or philosophical beliefs, sex life, sexual orientation, information about your health and genetic and biometric data. If you have provided us with this information, we will only use it for the purposes for which it was collected, e.g., to assess the availability of the insurance you have requested and where necessary to provide you with the benefits under the Policy in the event of a claim. You are not under any obligation to provide us your health information, but we may not be able to provide the services you have asked for without this information.

You may request that we not use Special Categories information at any time by emailing usa@battleface.com. If you do so, however, this may result in us applying a restriction on your policy or, in some instances, withdrawing your coverage altogether.

battleface Insurance Services LLC accepts applications for minor children with the condition that a parent or legal guardian completes and signs the application. We do not knowingly collect personal data about children except with parental consent. If you are a parent or guardian and you are aware that your child has provided us with personal data without your consent, please contact us. If we become aware that we have collected personal data from children without verification of parental consent, we will take steps to remove that information from our active servers.
